NEWSLETTER FEBRUARY 2025

HUMAN BODY FACTORY

We kicked off the first February week with Human Body Factory projects! We explored body systems in fun and hands-on ways, turning learning into an exciting adventure. We created playdough models of organs, built paper bag lungs to see how we breathe, worked out the body maps to inspect how our body works and looks like inside out.

I AM WHAT EAT

After inspecting our body we went for a tasty journey to the world of food. Safety vests on, our mini shoppers went on a grand adventure to buy the freshest ingredients. Then, with excitement bubbling, we turned to mini cooks and got to work in the kitchen. We mixed, mashed, cut, peeled, made a tiny mess and whipped up delicious treats. Of course, some ingredients mysteriously vanished before making it to the plate - because enjoying cooking to the fullest means a little taste-testing. And the result? Yummies in our tummies. 😊

WE SPY: What is the craziest food you have ever eaten?

Gabi (KOL): I tried burger made of shrimps in Thailand, and it was really weird 😬

Lenka (SM): Fries with ice cream

Ninka (MD): I once ate cat food as a dare.

Olga (SM): "After Eight "chocolates, the combination of mint filling and chocolate is the craziest thing ever... Never more 😊

Inna (SM): I had tasted the most disgusting jellybeans which were from Harry Potter Museum. Never again!

Rebeca (KOL): I am really scared to try some new food, but probably the craziest one was crickets 😬

Lili (SM): Kangaroo meat

Bibi (MD): Well, probably it was the devil fish. You know the scary fish from stories that has a lamp. And I have to say it was better than poultry.

Miška (SM): I have eaten fried as well as dried insects with chilly which were good and very crispy.

FAMOUS LOVE STORIES

Valentine knocked on our doors with a time filled with love and joy as usually on 14th February. With our Valentine Carnival, kids showed off their passions through their creative and beautiful masks. From ballerinas to superheroes, from animals to witches – all exciting and unique. At our Carnival games were played, love wishes given and masks shown off - what a day to spend with friends and laugh!
